Election Returns Thus Far

For some reason the complete returns of the recent election are very slow in coming in. Thus far they have arrived from Juneau, Douglas, Treadwell, Nevada creek, Silver Bow Basin, Ketchikan, Dolomi, Loring, Skagway, Haines, Sitka, Petersburg, Valdez, Fairbanks, Miles Glacier, Fort Gibbon, Nome, Cordova, Eyak, Chitina, Katalla, Sulzer, Seward, Shaskan, Girdwood, Lake, Knik, Copper Creek, Eagle, Gypsum, and some of the smaller precincts, the total vote, according to the Juneau Dispatch being 5730. Of these Wickersham received 2975, Orr 1938 and O'Connor 817. There are probably 1500 votes still to be heard from, but there is no likelihood that the proportion will be changed, so that it is conservative to figure that Wickersham's plurality over Orr will be at least 250 less than that of two years ago.

Ernie Campbell left on the Humboldt for the south where he will attend school during winter.

Accident To Catherine M.

It looks as though the cannery tender Catherine M., of the Pillar Bay Packing Co., will be out of the running for the balance of the season. Her boiler tubes started to leak last week and the boat was sent to Petersburg for repairs. While the boiler was being cooled off, preparatory to the repairs being made, the crown sheet cracked filling the engine room with steam, and there is little hope that repairs can be made in time to get the boat back into commission again this season.

District Court News

Judge Lyons has announced his intention to convene the District court early in September so that action on saloon licenses now pending may be taken. After disposing of these matters, court will adjourn until early in October, when the Ketchikan term will be held. At that time any blind overs from this locality will be taken up for trial.

Billy's A Benedict Now

The following appeared in a recent issue of the Seattle Times:

"The launching tonight of the new tunnel boat Noble, wedding bells Monday for Capt. Wm. J. Neill, one of the most popular navigators on the Stikine rivers, and Miss Ethel Noble, on 4542 Brooklyn Avenue, Seattle; a honeymoon trip to Wrangell in the new vessel, and a further jaunt to New York, are to culminate a pretty romance which started several months ago at the little red schoolhouse at Ketchikan.

When Capt. Neill, who is a wealthy riverboat operator in Southeast Alaska, first met Miss Noble at the schoolhouse at Ketchikan, where she is a teacher, he fell desperately in love with her. Being a busy man, with contracts for carrying United States mails between Wrangell and Telegraph and Wrangell and Selzer on the west coast of Prince of Wales Island, Neill had not much time to press his suit. On that account he courted the lady of his heart the more ardently, with the result that they decided to have their wedding in Seattle.

The vessel which is to take Capt. Neill and his bride on the first part of their honeymoon is being built by the Tregonning Boat Company at Ballard; and has been named Noble. It is practically finished and will be launched about sunset. In order to pilot the Noble from Seattle to Wrangell, Capt. Fred Leonard came down from Southeast Alaska by the steamship Jefferson, which arrived today. Capt. Leonard is accompanied by his wife, who will make a fourth member of the little party as far as Wrangell.

The Noble will operate on the Stikine River from Wrangell to Telegraph, and will be used to carry freight and passengers in addition to United States mails. She is one of the few tunnel boats ever to be built on this coast, and is especially designed for navigation on shallow water.

One of the last tunnel boats built here was turned out for Dr. F. A. Cook, alleged discoverer of the North Pole. The Tregonning Company built the vessel for Cook, who used it in connection with his Mt. McKinley climb.

"Billy," Mrs. "Billy," and the new boat arrived in Wrangell yesterday morning, and were met at the float by crowds of friends with showers of rice. The Sentinel, together with the hosts of well-wishers here in this region, extends the glad hand to the happy couple, and wishes them long years of wedded life, replete with joy.

A Deplorable Accident

While playing on the platform of Tom Case's woodshed last Friday, "Buster" Grant stepped on a loose board which turned with him, and he fell to the beach, below, a distance of fully twelve feet. The impact of the fall stunned him for a time, and Deputy Marshall Hood who happened to be passing jumped down to the beach and carried him from there to Dr. Shurick's office. An examination revealed the fact that he had fractured one of the bones of the left forearm, besides smashing the elbow joint. Dr. Shurick assisted by Dr. Dawes dressed the injury, and the little fellow has since been confined to his room. This is the second time that he has broken this arm, the first being when he was two years old. Late reports have it that the youngster is progressing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. J. E. Worden and family were passengers home on the Humboldt, after a pleasant visit with relatives in the south.

Leaves For The Skeena

After completing her three trips up the river to Telegraph Creek in record time, the steamer Port Simpson left for the Skeena river last Saturday. In the three trips she carried close to three hundred tons of goods to Telegraph, so that the shelves of the stores there, so empty a month ago, are now full to overflowing. Capt. Jackman and Purser Patmore are both efficient officers, and the expressed wish of the people of the town here who came in contact with the steamer folk is that they may return next season, when it is reported, the vessel will remain on the run the entire season.

Finishes Assessment Work

Capt. Ed. Miller, who came north a month or so ago to preform the assessment work on his Ham Island marble properties, was a passenger south on the Humboldt, having completed the necessary amount of work for the current year.

NEW MARITIME LIEN LAW

The new federal law, passed by the late Congress relating to actions in rem and providing that persons, firms or corporations furnishing vessels with repairs, supplies, etc., shall have a right to file a lien against the vessel, instead of the owners thereof, in case compensation is not received, is of vital importance to Pacific Coast shipping. Congress provided that this law shall take precedence over all state statutes relating to the same subject. The law states "that any person furnishing repairs, supplies or other necessities, including the use of drydock or marine railway, to a vessel, whether foreign or domestic, upon the order of the owner or owners of such vessel, or of a person by him or them authorized, shall have maritime lien on the vessel, which may be enforced by a proceeding in rem, and it shall not be necessary to allege or prove that credit was given to the vessel.

"That the following persons shall be presumed to have authority from the owner to owners to procure repairs, supplies and other necessities for the vessel: The managing owner, ship's husband, master, or any person to whom the management of the vessel at the port of supply is intrusted. No person tortiously or unlawfully in possession or charge of a vessel shall have authority to bind the vessel:

"That the officers and agents of a vessel specified in section 2 shall be taken to include such officers and agents when appointed by a charterer, by an owner pro hac vice, or by an agreed purchaser in possession of the vessel, but nothing in this act shall be construed to confer a lien when the furnisher knew, or by the exercise of reasonable diligence could have ascertained, that because of the terms of a charter party, agreement for sale of the vessel, or for any other reason, the person ordering the repairs, supplies, or other necessities was without authority to bind the vessel therefor."—Railway and Marine News.

The fine weather of the past week or ten days, has been a revelation to visitors of what Alaska can do in the weather line when it really tries.

Simply Smiles

"Here's a nickel," said a thrifty housewife to a tramp at her door. "Now, what are you going to do with it?" "Well mum," replied the hungry man, "if I buy a touring car, I shouldn't have enough left to pay my chauffeur; if I purchase a steam yacht, there won't be enough left to defray the cost of manning her; so I guess, mum, I'll get a schooner and handle it myself."

Two young lovers in a good-night embrace at the door were surprised by the girl's sister coming in.

"We are sting which is the taller," the young man explained in some confusion.

"You are about ten inches taller than Ethel," said the sister, "but she is at least ten shades redder than you."

"We were waiting for the elevator to come down," said the drummer, "after discussing the probability of an aeroplane's crossing the Atlantic within a year; when, just as the cage was about to ascend, one of the party said: 'I'll bet ten thousand dollars that it won't be done;—and the elevator boy took him up.'"

Major Richardson has decided he knows how and where to build the Eagle River road without being dictated to by Juneau's mayor and will go ahead with the trail construction as planned originally.

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

HAPPENINGS of INTEREST IN THE BUSY NORTH

H. R. Harriman and J. F. Steel, of the mining congress, are visiting the Porcupine district.

F. A. Heinze, the copper magnate, with a corps of experts, is expected to visit Southeastern Alaska within the next thirty days.

Frank H. Waskey, who was the first delegate to congress from this district, is in the Iditarod. It is said that his syndicate will clean up close to a million dollars on its property this season.

The report of the Cordova 4th of July committee shows that town received $1,769.50 by subscription for the celebration, and had spent $3 over that amount.

W. L. Burton is exporting the coal lands near the Klondike river, and if warranted, work will be hastened on the properties.

The Lone Star mill at Dawson closed down because the plates were losing as high as nine dollars to the ton. New machinery will be installed.

1,000,000 feet of lumber has been shipped to the Iditarod from Seattle this season.

The geological survey says that Alaska coal is excellent for every purpose and quite the equal of the Pocahontas product.

On the ready Bullion claim at the Treadwell mines, 2170 feet of development work was done during the year 1909, which was the least amount in ten years.

The Eagle saloon at Ketchikan burned recently with a loss of over $1000 entirely uninsured.

The wagon road from Pleasant camp to Rainy hollow in the Porcupine district has been completed.

Grover C. Winn, a recent graduate of the law department of the University of Washington has been appointed Court Commissioner at Juneau.

The Salmon Pack

Word comes from the various canneries that the salmon pack is going up rather slow, and will probably be much behind the calculations of the packers. The Petersburg cannery will not be able to get up much more than half a pack, Lake bay now has about 16000 cases up of the 25000 they hope to get, the local cannery has less than forty thousand cases now against about 60000 a year ago. The Santa Ana cannery will probably get all they intended to put up. The quality of fish this year is good.

"For masterly retreats," explained a British officer to an American, "we have had few generals equal to Buller. On several occasions he has made a retreat without losing an officer, a man, a gun or a flag."

"Or a minute," added the American.

River Launch Arrives

The Telegraph, the new craft for river work, arrived up from the south on her maiden trip Wednesday morning after a very pleasant trip up from the Sound. The vessel is a tunnel launch, 50 feet in length, with a beam of 10 feet, and powered with a 32 horsepower N. & S. engine. She left for up river river points Wednesday evening, with a good sized crowd of passengers.

Miss Tillie Lewis returned from Klowock on the last trip of the Uncle Dan, bringing over her little nephew.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leonard arrived from Seattle on the Telegraph. They brought up a steam peanut roaster with them, so that Wrangell will now be no longer lacking in this particular, and hot peanuts will no doubt become as popular as the ice cream cones.

Miles' new store building is rapidly nearing completion. Mr. Miles announces that he has already ordered his stock, which will be most comprehensive, and much of it is now on the way from San Francisco. By buying nearer the points of production he figures that he can secure his goods at a lower figure than in Seattle, and as he intends to conduct a strictly cash business, a saving of this nature is important.

"Cash" Coulter arrived up on the Cottage Wednesday.

Surveying The Narrows

The United States geodetic survey steamer Gedney is at Petersburg and her crew are taking soundings all over the Narrows preparatory to the installation of the government lighting system which is to be put into commission this fall.

Had A Difficult Trip

The Kelly made port during the early morning hours, Tuesday, after a trying trip through the fog from Shakan. There was no chart of the course aboard, and it was only the excellent piloting of Charley Demmert which kept her from going ashore. Mrs. Goodell was brought over to Dr. Dawes for medical treatment.

Bennie Delzelle, the popular drummer, representing Caro & Co., of Juneau, has been a Wrangell visitor this week.

Martin Bugge was a passenger up on the Cottage from Ketchikan, and has since been busily rehashing old Wrangell acquaintances.

Cheney is prepared to do photo work of all kinds.

James Miller an old timer of this region came up from Ketchikan on the Cottage.

Patenaude carries the best in Cigars, Tobaccos, Pipes, and Smokers' supplies in general.

Miss Aurora Lemieux will attend school in Seattle this coming winter, leaving for that place on the Humboldt.

Miss Carhart and Mrs. Bushell were passengers on the Humboldt for Seattle. The former goes to Granger, Wash., where she will have charge of town schools, the latter will visit relatives at Everett and Seattle, returning in about six weeks.
